Don't Marry a Man to Reform Him Unless He Shows He's Worth It!

GIRLS, Don't take a man "for the better or the worse" just on what he says. That sort of a husband is usually a poor investment. If he shows sufficient thrift and strength of character through the power of self-denial to accumulate a little money and sufficient sense and foresight to bank it in this strong bank instead of hoarding it—that is a different proposition.

BEWARE of the man whose stock in trade is principally flattering promises. They may be well-meant but they stand as nothing in comparison with the display of a comfortable balance on the pass-book. Look around you at the girls who took their chance and married reckless young men. In most cases you will find the bitter dregs of disappointment and the pinch of poverty are theirs. Appearance may be kept up for a while, but trouble is bound to brew where there is no provision for the future.

DON'T attempt a task of reformation through matrimony unless it is evidence that you at least have some material to work with. The man who can show you the tangible evidence that he is capable of being helped and uplifted, is the only one worth while.

TIME TO ACT

Don't Wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Illness. Profit by Stevens Point People's Experiences.

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are frequent symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect these ills. The attacks may pass off for a time but generally return with greater intensity. Don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up their use until the desired results are obtained. Good work in Stevens Point proves the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

Mrs. Herman Johnson, 325 Illinois avenue, Stevens Point, says: "Four or five years ago I had such a bad attack of kidney trouble that I was in almost constant distress. I had to try three or four times to stoop over. I was tired and lame when I got up in the morning. My kidneys were weak and acted too freely. Before I had finished the third box of Doan's Kidney Pills I was greatly relieved and they soon cured me completely. I feel that if other kidney sufferers doctored less and took Doan's Kidney Pills more, there would be less misery caused by kidney disease. I am anxious and glad that my recommendation be published so that other kidney sufferers may learn of Doan's Kidney Pills and be cured."

Price 50 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Johnson had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

An Ordinance.

An ordinance to amend sections 124, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130 and 133, relating to saloons and licensing thereof, regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors and regulating saloons.

The Common Council of the city of Stevens Point, Wisconsin, do ordain: Section 1. Sections 124, 126, 127, 128, 129 and 133 of the ordinances of the city of Stevens Point are amended to read:

Section 124. Licenses for vending, bartering and dealing in strong, ardent, spirituous, malt, fermented and any other intoxicating liquors may be granted by the common council, and when granted shall be sealed and attested by the city clerk, and shall specify the particular building where the business of selling, bartering or dealing in such liquors is to be carried on. All such licenses shall remain in force until the first day of July next after the granting thereof, unless sooner revoked by the common council. No license shall be delivered until the applicant shall produce and file with the clerk a receipt showing the payment of the sum required therefor to the city treasurer and until the filing with the city clerk of the bond provided for in Section 129.

Section 126. The person applying for a license to sell intoxicating liquors in the city of Stevens Point shall make a written application, giving the location of the premises where such business is to be conducted and the names of the bondmen if a personal bond, or the name of the bonding company if a surety bond, and shall file said application with the city clerk at least fifteen days prior to the granting of such license, and the said application shall prior to the granting of such license be published in a daily paper printed in the city of Stevens Point at least three times successively. No publication, however, of such application shall be made in any newspaper unless such publication shall have been regularly and continuously published daily in said city for a period of at least two years before the date of publication of such application. At the time of filing such application the applicant shall pay to the city clerk such sum as computed by the rate per folio for legal notices of publication as created, established and applied in the counties for this state by the statutes of Wisconsin would be required to pay for such publication.

Section 127. Upon receipt of any such application for license and the proof of the publication thereof as provided by the preceding section, the common council shall at its next meeting take up and consider the same and shall proceed by a vote to be recorded either for or against the granting of such license.

Section 128. If the vote of the common council shall be in favor of granting such license, the clerk shall immediately notify the applicant that upon filing his bond and also receipt of the city treasurer for the payment of the amount of license to be paid for the same, his license will be issued. The city treasurer shall receive no money into the treasury from any person on account of license for the sale of intoxicating liquors until notified by the city clerk that the common council has granted the license of the person offering such payment, and in no case shall the city clerk issue any license until the provisions of this ordinance are complied with and the bonds executed in due form and approved are filed in his office.

Section 129. No license shall be granted under this chapter until the person applying therefor shall have produced and filed with the city clerk a good and sufficient bond running to the State of Wisconsin in the penal sum of five hundred dollars with at least two sureties, if a personal bond, or one surety if a surety bond, to be approved by the common council. Said sureties and each of them shall justify in double the amount of the bond over and above all their debts, liabilities and exemptions, and are freeholders and residents of the county if sureties on a personal bond, and if a bond is signed by a surety company then said surety company must be authorized to do business within the state of Wisconsin. Said bond shall be conditioned that the applicant during the continuance of his license will keep and maintain an orderly and well regulated house, that he will permit no gambling with cards, dice or any device or implement used for that purpose within his premises, or in any outhouse, yard or shed appertaining thereto; that he will not sell or give away any intoxicating liquors to any minor, or to any person intoxicated or bordering upon intoxication, or to habitual drunkards, and that he will pay all damages that may be recovered by any person pursuant to Section 1560 of the Wisconsin Statutes, and that he will observe and obey all orders of such supervisors, trustees or aldermen, or any them, made pursuant to law, that he will not permit his saloon to be open or any person to be therein on the first day of the week, usually called Sunday, that he will not sell, dispose of or give away any beer, wine, whiskey or other intoxicating liquors or drinks of any description on the first day of the week, usually called Sunday. That he will not permit his saloon to be open or any person to be therein or will not dispose of or give away any beer, wine, whiskey or other intoxicating liquor on any election day. That he will not allow any lewdness or obscenity, or any riotous, quarrelsome, or other noisy proceedings in or about his premises to disturb the peace and quiet of the neighborhood of his saloon. The common council shall be the sole judge of the propriety of granting any license, and especially reserves to itself at any and all times in their sound discretion the right to amend the foregoing and repeal any license granted as aforesaid if sufficient cause for the same shall appear to the satisfaction of said common council to exist.

Section 130. No person or persons licensed under this chapter, nor any person employed by or acting for him, her, or them, shall at any time permit gambling with cards, dice, or other device or implement used for that purpose within his saloon, or any shed, outhouse or yard appertaining to his premises, or within any part of the building occupied by him as a saloon. No person shall sell, dispose of or give away any intoxicating liquors to any minor or any person intoxicated or bordering upon intoxication, or to habitual drunkards, or to persons prohibited under chapter 66 of the Wisconsin statutes from purchasing intoxicating liquors. No person shall permit any minor to play any cards or dice on his premises. No person shall keep open his saloon on the first day of the week, usually called Sunday, nor permit any person to be therein, or sell, dispose of or give away any beer, wine, whiskey or other intoxicating liquors of any description on the first day of the week, usually called Sunday. No person shall open a saloon or permit any person to be therein, nor sell, dispose of or give away any beer, wine, whiskey or other intoxicating liquors on election day, nor allow any lewdness or obscenity, or any riotous, or quarrelsome, or noisy proceedings in or about his premises tending to disturb the peace and quiet of the neighborhood of his saloon. And every person licensed under this chapter shall observe all the requirements of the common council or any member of the same made in pursuance of chapter 66 of the Wisconsin Statutes for the year 1913.

Section 133. All complaints for the violation of any or all of the provisions of Section 130 and 131 shall be made to the county judge of Portage county, acting as municipal judge for the city of Stevens Point. The said county judge shall in every instance immediately, whether the conviction be had or not, report the proceedings to the common council, stating the offense charged, the name of the defendant and the result of the proceedings had before him, upon receipt of which report the common council may upon complaint being made, as provided by Section 1158 of the Wisconsin Statutes and following the procedure in said section provided, proceed to annul the license of the person or persons so proceeded against.

C. E. Van Hecke, Alderman Second Ward.

Real Joy of Farm Owning. I am not a gentleman farmer, with a great estate over which I ride once in awhile and leave all the real work to my underlings. I cannot think there would be great fun in this. No; I like to take hold with my Portuguese man and plant and spray and trim and prune. To be sure, he does more than his share of the rough work, and much of the year I must be cultivating other kinds of holds than those that grow cabbages and turnips, but the fun of farming comes from being a real farmer while you are one, getting close to the soil, becoming intimate with every living thing, whether it be a plant or animal; loving your tomato vines and raspberry bushes, taking a real pride in your eggplants and your brussels sprouts, whether you get a prize for them at the county fair or not.—Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark in Countryside Magazine and Suburban Life.

A Test of Friendship.

Just before Artemus Ward's death Robertson poured out some medicine and offered it to the sick man, who said, "My dear Tom, I won't take any more of that horrible stuff."

Robertson urged him to swallow the mixture, saying, "Do, now, there's a dear fellow—for my sake. You know I would do anything for you."

"Would you?" said Ward feebly, grasping his friend's hand for the last time.

"I would indeed," said Robertson. "Then you take it."

Ward passed away a few hours afterward.—"Recollections of the Banquets."

His Mean Comment.

Wife (reading). Here's the advertisement of a matrimonial agency offering to supply any man with a wife for $3 a dollar. Husband—Oh, of course! It costs less to get into trouble than it does to get out again.

Not So Dead.

Mrs. Styles—This paper says eagles and parrots are among the longest lived of the birds. Mr. Styles—Come to think of it, I guess that's correct. I never see 'em on women's hats.—Yonkers Statesman.

Sure He Had It.

She (to husband, who has a awful of bundles)—Good heavens, Jack! What are all those things for? He—Well, I couldn't remember the thing you told me to get, so I got all the things I thought it might have been.—Judge.

Where love is, there is no toll.—St. Bernard.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR HOUSEWIVES

New Gas Range Designed to Economize Fuel.

Making two gas burners do the work of five, with a resulting saving in fuel, is the feature of a new gas range that has just been brought out. The top of the range consists of two detachable sections, each heated independently by one burner, and each section has two stove holes, with lids like those of an ordinary stove. Each burner is at the front of the stove and heats the lid over it by the direct action of the flame. The hot gases, instead of escaping as in an ordinary stove, then pass through a shallow flue to an outlet at the rear, heating the remainder of the section.—Popular Mechanics.

Baked Sausage With Dressing.

For this do not use very fat sausage. Make a dressing with three cups of dry bread soaked in cold water. Press out the water and season highly with pepper, salt and sage or grated onion. Some housekeepers like both sage and onion. Pile up the dressing in the middle of the frying pan and curl the sausage around it. Cook without a cover, basting often. Take out the meat and dressing on a platter and pour off some of the surplus fat. Add one pint of hot water and a thickening made of two tablespoonsful of flour rubbed smooth in a little cold milk. Have the gravy thick, smooth and a rich brown. Pour the gravy over the meat and dressing on the platter or serve separately.

Fried Chicken, Southern Style.

Try a dozen slices, sliced thin, of fat salted pork. Add thereto a medium sized onion, also cut in slices, which remove when cooked a delicate brown. Cut into six or seven pieces a young chicken, which season with a hint of pepper and salt and dredge with flour. Fry them in the hot fat until they attain a rich brown tint. Then, if done, take them up, drain and place them on a dish that can be kept hot. Add to the pork fat, if any remains, a cupful of rich milk thickened with flour, a piece of butter the size of an egg, and the fried onions. Let it come to a boil, and when done pour over the chicken.

Stewed Carrots.

Scrape and wash young carrots, then boil quite rapidly in enough water to cover, with cover partially or entirely off. When nearly done add salt. When tender drain, cut into strips, return to stevpan with a generous amount of butter, seasoning and cream. Let come to a boil and serve hot. For a change in place of the cream use some meat or chicken broth. For variety use three parts carrots to one part sliced onions, cook and serve as above.

Pea Soup.

Split dried peas, one-half pound; water, three pints; onion, one; carrot, one; turnip, one small slice; flour, one tablespoonful; butter, one ounce; herbs, one small bunch; salt and pepper to taste. Boil peas, vegetables and herbs in the water until the peas are quite soft, then rub through the sieve. Mix the flour and butter smoothly together and add the soup gradually, so as not to lump; boil for three minutes, season and serve.

Banana Fritters.

Beat three or four bananas to a cream. Add one egg, one cupful of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, a little salt, one-fourth cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of sugar and one tablespoonful of lemon juice. Beat until thoroughly mixed. Have the fat heated as for doughnuts. Dip a spoon in the fat and use it to shape the fritters. Fry until brown. Sprinkle with powdered sugar or serve with lemon juice.

Breadcrumbs Omelet.

A pleasing variation of a plain omelet may be made as follows: First take a cup of breadcrumbs and pour over them three-fourths of a cup of hot milk and set this aside to cool. When this is cold add it to the beaten yolks of three eggs. After these are thoroughly blended fold in the well beaten whites and cook in the usual manner.

Airing the Sickroom.

Cover the patient over while airing the sickroom. Let down the window at the top and swing door rapidly, but quickly, for a few minutes backward and forward. This will pump the bad air out and draw in the fresh air from the window.

Baking Powder.

Pass a half pound of bicarbonate of soda and six ounces of tartaric acid through a sieve, mix with a quarter of a pound of rice flour and sift all together two or three times. Store in tin and keep in a dry place.

Washing Silk Stockings.

Silk stockings should never be ironed. Wash them in soapsuds (made with good white soap and lukewarm water) and rinse in clear water of the same temperature. Rough dry.

Almost a Death Struggle.

A large crowd had gradually formed around the two fashionably dressed and obnoxious young girls, and at one time it seemed necessary to separate them.

"What can it mean?" said the stranger who had just come up.

"It took me," said the man addressed, "some time to learn; but, as I understand it now, one girl has been six months in Europe, and while she was gone the other one has learned to play golf, and they are trying to tell each other about it."—Life.

Like Father, Like Son.

Rev. Dr. Somers was in the habit of addressing Sarah, his wife, in polysyllables when he wished the children to leave the room. He never dreamed that they understood until nine-year-old Jack, recovering from measles, was one day enjoying the dear privilege of hearing his mother read aloud.

The doctor ventured in and began softly, "Sarah"—

Up rose Master Jack in bed. "Sarah," quoth he, "eliminate the obnoxious element!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

Color and Mentality.

Color, especially flowers, has an extraordinary effect on the mental condition. The sight of crimson, pink and amethyst rhododendrons growing in the open air has a curiously uplifting and joyous effect.—New York Sun.

Skeptical.

Not one man in a thousand who rolls down to the bottom of the hill can make the world believe he did it for exercise.—Atlanta Constitution.

Fulfilled.

Mrs. Gnaggs—Before we were married you used to say you could listen to my sweet voice all night. Mr. Gnaggs—Well, at that time I had no idea I'd ever have to do it.—Judge.

Not a Bout Winner.

Tramp—Once I was well known as a wrestler, mum. Lady—And do you wrestle now? Tramp—Only with poverty, mum.—New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Comparison more than reality makes men happy and can make them wretched.—Fetham.

Coming Back to Stevens Point UNITED DOCTORS SPECIALIST will again be at the Hotel Jacobs Sat., June 26

ONE DAY ONLY Hours, 10 A. M. to 8 P. M.

Remarkable Success of These Talented Physicians in Treatment of Chronic Diseases.

Offer Their Services Free of Charge.

The United Doctors, licensed by the state of Wisconsin for the treatment of deformities and all nervous and chronic diseases of men, women and children, offer to all who call on this trip, consultation, examination, advice free, making no charge whatever, except the actual cost of treatment. All that is asked in return for these valuable services is that every person treated will state the result obtained to their friends and thus prove to the sick and afflicted in very city and locality, that at last treatments have been discovered that are reasonably sure and certain in their effect.

These doctors are among America's leading stomach and nerve specialists and are experts in the treatment of chronic diseases and so great and wonderful have been their result that in many cases it is hard to find the dividing line between skill and miracle.

Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, blood, skin, nerves, heart, spleen, kidneys, or bladder, rheumatism, sciatica, diabetes, bad wetting, tape worm, leg ulcers, weak lungs and those afflicted with long standing deep seated, chronic diseases, that have baffled the skill of the family physicians, should not fail to call. Deafness often has been cured in sixty days.

According to their system no more operations for appendicitis, gall stones, tumors, goiter, piles, etc., as these diseases are treated without operation or hypodermic injection.

They were among the first in America to earn the name of "Bloodless Surgeons," by doing away with the knife, with blood and with all pain in the successful treatment of these dangerous diseases.

If you have kidney or bladder troubles bring a two ounce bottle of your urine for chemical analysis and microscopic examination.

No matter what your ailment may be, no matter what others may have told you, no matter what experience you may have had with other physicians, it will be to your advantage to see them at once. Have it forever settled in your mind. If your case is incurable they will give you such advice as may relieve and stay the disease. Do not put off this duty you owe yourself or friends or relatives who are suffering because of your sickness, as a visit at this time may help you.

Worn-out and run-down men or women, no matter what your ailment, consult them. It costs you nothing.

Remember, this last free offer is for this visit only. Married ladies come with their husbands and minors with their parents.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.

Milady's Mirror

Care of Hairbrush.
Where possible it is very much better to have the hair brushed by a second person, more especially where it is long and heavy. A woman can hardly carry her arm from the scalp to the full length of the hair, and it snarls and tangles until more is pulled out than is right.
There is also a great difference in the sort of brush used. One with bristles that are too stiff will scratch the scalp, often make it very sore and so cause loosening of the hair; one with bristles that are too soft will not be of much use in reaching the skin and stimulating the growth of new hair. A brush that is not perfectly clean will cause dandruff, an oily condition and effectually prevent a healthy growth. So, much attention should be paid to not only the quality, but the cleanliness as well as to the proper setting of the bristles of the brush used daily.
There is a splendid English brush with black bristles that seems to be almost perfect. The effect is to bring about a healthy glow on the scalp, while the hair is left soft and shining after a thorough brushing. Rather high priced, a good brush of this sort will cost over $2, but lasts for years if washed properly, so the cost may be considered worth paying.
The washing of hair brushes is very simple, yet a certain course must be followed: Tepid water with a good soap, the bristles well rubbed with another brush, a comb passed through and through so the bottom of the rows may be touched; two lathers, rinsing in warm water, then in cold, and a rubbing lightly with a towel that does not leave lint. These are simple rules.
The drying should be done by laying the brushes bristles down in a dry, warm place, but not on a radiator or in a hot sun. The heat of either will loosen the bristles. Where very dusty, as after the hair has been filled with dust from a trip or high winds, a teaspoonful of ammonia may be added to the soapy water. This effectually cuts out the greasy dust.
Reason will show that by laying the brushes down on the bristles the water will run out, whereas if placed on the back it will soak into the wood and in time loosen every bristle.
A little sifted cornmeal dusted into brushes and then brushed out often takes away the daily accumulation of dirt where a hairbrush is used constantly, thus saving too many washings. The very particular woman will be utterly confounded to note the appearance of a cloth used to wipe her hairbrush while she is going through her daily application. Where the dirt comes from is a question that can never be answered, but she will be convinced that the most particular care is needed every day if she wishes her hair to be free from dirt and her toilet appointments as fastidiously neat as she thinks they should be.

Bright Eyes.
Keeping the eyes bright is by no means a difficult matter. Every woman knows the value of bright, sparkling eyes as an asset to beauty. First avoid all eye strain. One of the greatest mistakes many women make is that of putting off the wearing of glasses long after they are needed. If you need glasses use them. There is no need to wear them constantly. Keep them for work.
Don't wake in a bright light or sleep facing the window. Have your bedroom window open, but the room dark.
Every morning and night wash out your eyes with a weak solution of boric acid, about one teaspoonful of boric powder mixed in six ounces of hot water and allowed to get cool. Apply this with an eye cup, and after one week's use the benefit will be felt and seen.

Beauty Hints.
Nothing restores a tired body and brain more completely than a refreshing bath and a change into fresh, clean clothing.
Get into the habit of keeping several changes of shoes and change your shoes every night when you come home. It is a great rest to tired feet.
Cold water is a splendid preventive of wrinkles, making the skin firm and smooth. The face should be washed in cold water every morning.
If those who perspire freely would use a little ammonia in the water they bathe in every day it would keep the flesh clean and sweet, doing away with any disagreeable odor.

About Wearing Veils.
A good cream applied to the face, carefully wiped off and followed with a good face powder is better than a veil on very cold days. The veil becomes moist from the breath. This causes the skin to chap and roughen, and it takes several days to get the skin back to a normal condition. Repeated chapping will make the skin coarse and floriid.

Massage Cream.
A massage cream may be made as follows: Take three ounces of oil of sweet almonds, an ounce of lanolin, two drams of cucumber juice, two drams of white wax, two drams of spermaceti, thirty drops of tincture of benzoin and ten drops of oil of rose. Combine these and place in a jar for use.

Screws and corkscrews are right hand screws unless made for some special purpose. Left hand screws can be bought from any large hardware dealer. Coffin screws for some unexplained reason are always left hand screws. Man is naturally right handed, and it has been suggested that this may be owing to the position of his heart on the left side. So all tools and weapons have been adapted to right handed men. This is true of the adze, plane, scythe, gimlet, auger, scissors, snuffers, shears, etc.
The strongly left handed man will continue to use such tools with his left hand, even though with inconvenience, but he in whom the left handedness is not a strong bias becomes ambidextrous through the use of the right handed contrivances and appliances of everyday life.
Mr. Cook mentions many customs that have arisen through the normal right handedness of man. Among these is the rule of driving to the left, which still obtains in England, Portugal, Sweden and parts of Austria, Italy and Switzerland. This is a survival of riding days, when men held the reins in their left hands in order to leave their right free to use their swords.
The most notable example of a left handed artist is Leonardo da Vinci. He also wrote with his left hand and wrote from right to left. So that any one who wants to read his manuscripts or the annotations on his drawings must use a mirror. This, according to Mr. Cook, is the natural method of the left handed man.

Presidential Cheeses.
The first monster cheese presented to a president of which we can find record is that offered with great publicity to Jefferson in 1802. The cheese was made—one might almost say built—in Cheshire, Mass., in a press giving it the great dimensions of four feet diameter and eighteen inches high. After being successfully pressed it was drawn from Cheshire to Washington in a six horse dray amid popular rejoicing. With regard to the dignity of his office, the president insisted on footing the bill to the tune of $200. There is record of an even greater cheese presented to President Jackson, and President Van Buren received a great cheese every year of his incumbency. With him the custom seems to have ended.—New York Sun.

Long Drawn Out.
Uncle Jeff, an aged negro driver of Augusta, was piloting several northern visitors around just after the first golf links had been put in there. Uncle Jeff was a little short in his knowledge according to St. Andrew, but long on local pride.
"How many holes have they?" inquired a visitor. "Eighteen?"
Uncle Jeff pulled up to make his answer more impressive.
"More'n dat, suh," he said. "Dey's got a passel er land, and de holes ain't bigger'n a tin can. I reckon dey's got a thousand holes already, suh."—New York Post.

First Sumptuary Laws.
Laws regulating eating, drinking and dressing are almost as old as history itself. Nothing like exactness can be reached in the matter, but it is safe to say that it was in Egypt as far back as 3000 B. C. that the first practical sumptuary statutes were passed. Among the Romans they first appeared in the celebrated "twelve tables." In modern times Charlemagne was the pioneer in sumptuary legislation.

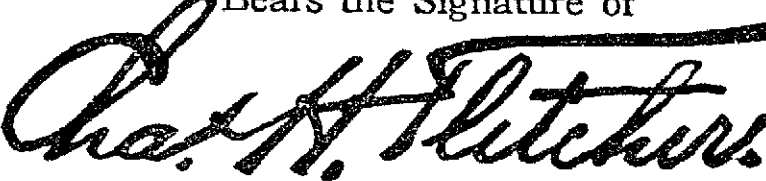

A Bird That Bestows a Curse.
The stonechat, a "soft billed" bird, is so called from the similarity of its alarm note and the striking together of two pebbles. In some parts of Scotland it is supposed to contain a drop of the devil's blood, and its nest is never taken because of the curse it is always promising.—Country Life

Leisurely Tasmania.
Leisure is regarded as so notable a characteristic of Tasmania that it bears the nickname of "the land of lots of time," or "the land of sleep a lot," while its inhabitants are called "tassies" and "jam eaters," the latter being an allusion to the island's great fruit farms.
One Argument He Won.
"Pa, did you ever win an argument with ma?"
"Once, my boy; I convinced her that I was the man she ought to marry."—Detroit Free Press.

We are always striving for things forbidden and coveting those denied as.—Ovid.

Restored to Good Health.
"I was sick for four years with stomach trouble," writes Mrs. Otto Gans, Zanesville, Ohio. "I lost weight and felt so weak that I almost gave up hope of being cured. A friend told me about Chamberlain's Tablets, and since using two bottles of them I have been a well woman." Obtainable everywhere.

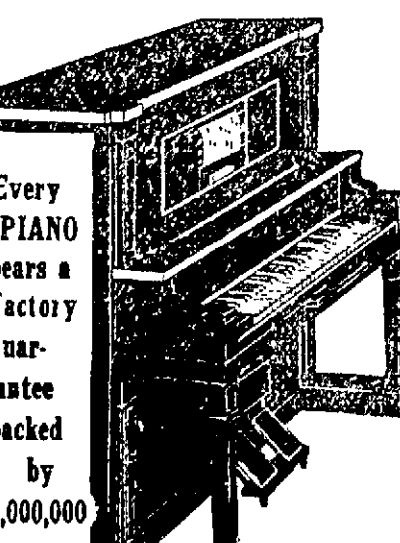

Bilious Attacks.
When you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and you will soon be as well as ever. They only cost a quarter. Obtainable everywhere.

KIDNEY REMEDY THAT ACTS LIKE MAGIC.
I have been a terrible sufferer for a number of years with kidney and liver trouble, also nervous prostration and health generally poor, constitution entirely run down until life became a burden. I tried physicians and every available remedy but found no relief. Was induced to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root a trial, which acted like magic, and am happy to say that I believe I am entirely cured and now as good a man as ever.
I believe it my duty to make this public statement that I may help others who may be suffering from the same trouble. Swamp-Root is without question the greatest remedy in the world. Anyone in doubt of this statement or the authenticity can address me as below.
Yours very truly,
M. H. McCoy,
Van Wert, Ohio.

State of Ohio,

The foregoing statement sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence this 18th day of July, 1909, by the said M. H. McCoy,
A. C. Gilpin, Notary Public.

Prove What Swamp Root Will Do For You
Send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample size bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention the Stevens Point Gazette. Regular fifty-cent and one dollar size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

A Good Household Salve.
Ordinary ailments and injuries are not of themselves serious, but infection or low vitality may make them dangerous. Don't neglect a cut, sore, bruise or hurt because it's small. Blood poison has resulted from a pin-prick or scratch. For all such ailments Bucklen's Arnica Salve is excellent. It protects and heals the hurt; is antiseptic, kills infection and prevents dangerous complications. Good for all skin blemishes, pimples, salt rheum, eczema. Get an original 2-ounce 25c box from your druggist.

Greatly Benefited by Chamberlain's Liniment.
"I have used Chamberlain's Liniment for sprains, bruises and rheumatic pains, and the great benefit I have received justifies my recommending it in the highest terms," writes Mrs. Florence Slife, Wabash, Ind. If you are troubled with rheumatic pains you will certainly be pleased with the prompt relief which Chamberlain's Liniment affords. Obtainable everywhere.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (cause by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Mrs. W. E. Warren and A. I. Chambers of Grand Rapids, accompanied by Mrs. Mary Wheeler of Stevens Point, were Sunday guests at the G. Elliot and K. J. Marceau homes.

R. A. Wagers and S. A. Jones are kept busy at the lumber yard. A great many find it a convenient place to purchase lumber and all kinds of building material, as to reasonable prices and distance in hauling.

Miss Alice Morgan won the silver cake basket at the nail driving contest; Miss Anna Hiel received the silver combination sugar bowl and spoonholder for most popular lady, and Howard Akey won the child's five piece silver set given away by the Gibson medicine company.

Advice to a Young Man.

"What do you say to a young lady at a dance?" queried the youth who was about to attend his first ball.

"Oh," replied the society man, "talk to her about her beauty."

"But suppose she hasn't any?" said the youth.

"In that case," rejoined the s. m., "talk to her about the ugliness of the other girls present."

Preparing a Substitute.

"We are to have company for dinner, and I don't believe there is a grapefruit to be had in town! What in the world shall I do?"

"Got any oranges?"

"Plenty of them."

"All right. You be splitting the oranges, and I'll run down to the drug store and get a pound of quinine to dust them with!"—Houston Post.

Strange Courtship of a Would Be Athlete.

Whatever we do we do better if possessed of a natural faculty for its accomplishment. What we do well we are apt to do easily. What we do easily we are apt to deprecate. Therefore we are prone to prize that for which we have no aptitude.

Wilbur Parks while at college carried off prizes as readily as a chicken picks up grains of corn. Indeed, the winning of intellectual honors was so simple a matter to him that he couldn't understand why all students couldn't do the same. What Mr. Parks coveted was success in athletics, and he especially desired to be prominent as a boating man. He had not the physique to gain him an entrance into the university crew, but felt it possible for him to stand well as an oarsman.

Parks spent his vacation before entering upon his senior year at Lake M. and sent his own boat up by rail. At the hotel where he stopped were a couple of college girls, one of whom had no end of conditions consequent upon her last examinations to make up and should have been studying rather than summering. The other, Josephine Banning, was rich, and it made little difference practically whether she got a diploma or not, but Alida Lane was poor and doomed to the drudgery of a schoolroom, and her degree was of the greatest importance to her. Since the needful is seldom bestowed in the right place, Miss Banning was a good scholar, while Miss Lane dragged along at the foot of her class. However, the latter was pretty, and there was hope for her in another direction. Parks met the two girls and devoted himself to Miss Banning.

One morning Parks was pulling lazily on the sunlit bosom of the lake in his skeleton boat, when, hearing the sounds of oars ahead, he turned and saw Alida Lane in a light lap-streak she had hired at the landing. Not averse to company, Parks gave a few strokes with his long sweeps with a view to taking position beside her, then turned his head to speak. To his surprise, her boat was not on his quarter, but about as far ahead as he had first seen it. He gave a dozen more strokes, and turned again to look. He had not gained half a length. Then he began to exert himself, but when Wilbur Parks exerted himself he was sure to do poorly. He put his oars in too deep and took them out with a jerk. Miss Lane stopped rowing and let him come alongside.

"You don't 'feather' right," she said. Parks, red as a lobster, looked at her with an expression denoting that he did not care to be taught rowing by a girl.

"Your strokes are too fast for such long sweeps," she went on. "You're giving as many to the minute as I with these paddles."

Parks didn't deign to reply. "Oh," said the girl, pulling on. "I beg your pardon. I didn't intend!"

Either she didn't finish the sentence or Parks didn't hear the end. At any rate, though he worked hard, she pulled away from him.

The young man's emotions were like the rumbling of volcanic forces. What were all the scholarly prizes he had taken against this ignominious defeat by a girl. Had she beaten him intellectually he would not have much minded it, but for a man to be worsted in the matter of a man's natural endowment—strength—by a girl whose principal weapon should be weakness, was humiliating indeed. He hated Miss Lane, and when a man begins to take enough interest in a woman to hate her he is in a dangerous way.

The matter might have stood at rest here had not a sudden shower come up when the guests were having a lawn party at some distance from the hotel. Parks was walking briskly for cover when Miss Lane ran by him. Instinctively he began to race her, but when he reached the piazza she was sitting in a hammock fanning herself.

After this there was more bad blood between Mr. Parks and Miss Lane, and they barely spoke to each other.

One morning Miss Lane went to the landing for a row. There was not a boat to be had, and she was about to retrace her steps when, looking out on the lake, she was just in time to see a collision between a punt and Wilbur Parks' shell. Both oarsmen were spilled in the water, the amateur swimming for shore, Parks clinging to one of the boats.

Had the girl let him alone he would have been picked up presently and no damage done, but she saw her advantage and grasped it. Taking off only her shoes, she plunged in and swam for him. Parks saw her coming and, preferring death to being saved by her, left his boat and tried to swim for the landing. When they met he was exhausted. The girl managed to get his arm over her shoulder and around her neck and carried him to shore.

After that Parks suddenly discovered that his hatred for his preserver was of a very peculiar kind. Indeed, he disliked her so much that he became her slave. The next June he left college with high scholarly honors, while Miss Lane left by the back door—that is, without a degree. But Parks gained in her the athletic attainments he prized, and she gained a husband. She worships Parks' intellectual endowments, and he is very proud that his wife is the best oarswoman and swimmer at the summer colony of which they are members.

ARNOTT.

The Arnott baseball team will cross bats with the South Side team of Stevens Point next Sunday. Everybody give a boost.

Chas. Breitenstein of Stevens Point spent a few hours here on Saturday. He has just returned from a month's tour of the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCormick left for Prairie du Chien in their Reo. Mr. McCormick's place at the creamery here is being filled by Henry Koltz.

Lyman Precourt left for Fond du Lac on Monday morning to accompany home his daughter, Rosalie, who underwent an operation there.

J. A. Werachowski, the local Reo dealer, sold four 1915 cars within the last week. D. F. Gates, Lewis Precourt, Jos. Krudzik and Geo. Fletcher are the owners, the latter buying a six cylinder.

Road Building is Success.

Nearly one hundred Stevens Point business and professional men and an equally large number of laborers whom they had engaged for the day, devoted last Friday to improving the highway in Carson township, leading north from the city limits. This included in the route of the "Yellowstone Trail," and it was through the efforts of H. D. Boston, G. W. Andrae, T. H. Hanna and other officers of the association that the work was undertaken.

Some 42 teams were furnished by Carson farmers and city residents for hauling gravel from a nearby pit, which was quickly spread along the right-of-way for a distance of three miles, improving the surface very materially.

The pronounced success of this undertaking gives the promoters encouragement and it is likely that similar work will be done on the Plover hills, starting from the eastern city limits.

GAME IN A MUDDLE

Stevens Point and Grand Rapids Both Claim Victory in Baseball Contest—Scrap Spoils Sport.

The baseball game played between Grand Rapids and Stevens Point of the Wisconsin Valley league in this city last Sunday had several results.

One was a disgusted, dissatisfied bunch of fans; another was a score of 8 to 7 in favor of Grand Rapids and still another was a 9 to 0 decision in Stevens Point's favor.

While the first mentioned result will stand without question, those relating to the outcome of the contest will be a matter for dispute until the league's commission, composed of one member from each of the four cities, Wausau, Marshfield, Stevens Point and Grand Rapids, hand down their findings.

Five hundred people went out to the grounds to witness the struggle and just when they were nicely settled in anticipation of an afternoon's enjoyment, they were given a rude shock. In the first half of the second inning the Grand Rapids team objected to a close decision at second base and refused to continue the game. An attempt was made to compromise, but this failed and the fans began pouring out of the park, stopping enroute to demand the return of their money at the ticket office.

Finally, after the crowd and players had fled out, an arrangement was made to resume the contest where it was left off and Grand Rapids, knocking Hollenbeck off the mound in the fourth and hitting his successor, Eagleburger, hard in the eighth, gathered eight scores. Stevens Point got all their hits off Foster after the sixth inning and came close to winning cut in the ninth inning rally.

Brennan, outfielder for Grand Rapids, was the star of the pastime. In the ninth inning he hoisted the ball into left field and completed the circuit, only to have the umpire call "foul." On returning to bat he caught one of Eagleburger's speeders flush on the nose, sent it far into center field and again made the rounds.

While the Grand Rapids team was apparently victorious, the interpretation of the rules shows that they forfeited the game when they refused to continue while Umpire Reilly was officiating. That forms the basis of the Stevens Point claim, as sent to the president of the league, John M. Winicki of Wausau.

STEVENS POINT, WIS., JUNE 9, 1915.

RULES U. S. STEEL NEED NOT DISSOLVE

Federal Court at Trenton, N. J.,
Denies U. S. Plea.

FOREIGN TRADE IS UPHELD

Unlawful Price-Fixing Agreements
Stopped and New Trade Commission Must Control Situation—
Injunction Refused.

Trenton, N. J., June 5.—The decision in the United States Steel corporation suit filed in the United States district court here on Thursday holds that the corporation should not be dissolved. The principal points in the decision are:

It refuses to issue any injunction. It holds the foreign trade of the Steel corporation is not a violation of the Sherman law.

It holds certain price fixing agreements which followed the Gary dinners, but which stopped before the bill was filed, to have been unlawful.

It allows the government to move to retain jurisdiction of the bill if such price fixing practices are renewed, but suggests matters may now be controlled by the new trade commission.

The suit against the United States Steel corporation was filed October 20, 1911, during the Tait administration and was started by George W. Wickensham, who was attorney general.

The opinions, two in number, are largely a discussion of whether the steel corporation monopolized the steel trade or dealt unfairly with competitors or purchasers.

"This case, a proceeding under the Sherman antitrust law, is one largely of business facts," says the opinion.

It declares all the trust cases so far determined settled down to this, that only such combinations are within the Sherman act as by reason of the intent of those forming them or the inherent nature of their contemplated act wrong the public by unduly restricting competition or unduly obstructing the course of trade.

The test of monopoly, the opinion says, is not the size of that which is acquired but the trade power of that which is not acquired.

With the completion of the Erie canal, Lake Superior ores can be brought cheaper to New York harbor than to Pittsburgh. This means, the opinion says, blast furnaces on New York harbor waters. On the basis of the actual iron units in ore, Cuban ores can be delivered in Philadelphia at one-half the cost of Lake Superior.

Facts and figures show that there is no possibility of Lake Superior ore monopoly.

The Cambria Steel company president, the opinion said, showed that the United States Steel could put it out of business.

James R. Garfield, former secretary of commerce, according to the opinion, showed the Steel corporation got no freight rebates.

There were two opinions filed in this case. Judge Buffington wrote the opinion which was concurred in by the other three judges. Judge Woolley also wrote an opinion concurring with the views of Judge Buffington, and this latter opinion was concurred in by Judge Hunt, now sitting in the United States court in New York city.

Other points in the decision are:

"The field of business enterprise in the steel business is as open to and being as fully filled by the competitors of the Steel corporation as it is by that company.

No testimony has been produced in this record that a return to the old trade war system of ruinous competition would, as a matter of fact, benefit the public interests.

"In taking up this question we dismiss once and for all the question of mere volume or bigness of business. The question before us is not how much business was done or how large the company that did it; the vital question is, how was the business, whether big or little, done; was it, in the test of the supreme court, done by prejudicing the public interests, by unduly restricting or unduly obstructing trade? The question is one of undue restriction or obstruction and not of undue volume of trade.

"If mere size were the test of monopoly and trade restraint, we have not one but half a dozen unlawful monopolies in the large department stores of a single city.

"A study of these proofs satisfies us that the United States Steel corporation could not have been formed unless the minds of two men had united in a common purpose. These two men were J. Pierpont Morgan and Andrew Carnegie.

Undoubtedly it will be appealed to the Supreme court of the United States.

BRITISH MOBS AVENGE AIR RAID ON LONDON

Wreck German Property When Bombs
From Zeppelins Kill and Maim—
Many Fires Started.

London, June 3.—As a result of the Zeppelin raid the anti-German rioting broke out again in London on Tuesday.

When it was officially announced that German flyers had dropped 90 bombs, killing four persons, injuring others and starting many fires in the premises of persons suspected of being of German nationality in Shore-ditch, and attacked the shops which were smashed in the previous rioting and had since been barricaded.

In one case the occupants fled when the mob approached, and were pursued by the infuriated crowd.

A special constabulary has been called out in an attempt to check the outbreaks.

In Piccadilly Walk three shops were attacked. A baker's shop in Pearson street, raided a fortnight ago, was destroyed by an angry crowd composed chiefly of women.

The statement of the authorities on the Zeppelin raid reads:

"Late Monday night about ninety bombs, mostly of an incendiary character, were dropped from hostile aircraft in various localities not far distant from each other. A number of fires of which only three were large enough to require the services of fire engines broke out. All of them were promptly and effectively dealt with. The fires all were caused by the incendiary bombs referred to.

"No public building was injured, but a number of private premises were damaged by fire and water.

"The number of casualties is small, so far as has at present been ascertained. One infant, one boy, one man and one woman were killed, and another woman was so seriously injured that her life is despaired of.

"A few other private citizens were seriously injured, but the precise number has not yet been ascertained."

Berlin, June 3.—The official report of the Zeppelin attack on London follows:

"As a reprisal for the bombardment of the open town of Ludwigshafen we threw numerous bombs on Monday night on wharves and docks of London. Enemy airmen bombarded Ostend, damaging some houses without causing any other injury."

HOPE SEEN FOR SETTLEMENT.

German Ambassador Confers With President Wilson.

Washington, June 4.—There is hope in presidential circles that the dispute between the United States and Germany can be amicably settled. This hope is based on a heart-to-heart conversation which President Wilson had on Wednesday with Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, lasting half an hour. The president found the ambassador courteous and friendly, apparently eager to find a solution which would satisfy the United States.

The president notified the ambassador that he would expect an assurance of security for innocent human life on the high seas from the German government and promised not to dispatch his reply to the German note until the answer had been received.

Count von Bernstorff sent a resume of the president's requirements and observations to Berlin, accompanying them with a strong recommendation that they be carefully and favorably considered.

TEUTONS RETAKE PRZEMYSL CITY

Stronghold Falls Under Pounding of Big Guns.

RUSS MAY LOSE LEMBERG

Austro-German Forces Clear Gateway to Dual Empire of Czar's Troops—
City and Forts Surrounding It
Battered by Howitzers.

Vienna, June 4.—Przemysl is again in Austrian hands, according to official announcement here.

With the Galician stronghold in their hands, the Austrians and Germans have concluded the first phase of their new Galician campaign, which was launched in the drive from Cracow.

Dispatches from the Austrian front to Vienna indicate that the attacking forces relied largely on their heavy guns, which they have used effectively all through their advance across Galicia. These dispatches say the Russians had removed men and supplies from Przemysl in anticipation of its fall, and that they considered it not improbable they would lose Lemberg as well.

In the ten weeks which have elapsed since the capture of the fort by the Russians, the Austrians and Germans have made every effort to retake the fortress, large forces being diverted for this purpose from the other great fortress to the west, Cracow.

Przemysl, about which has centered the most dramatic epoch of the war in the East, was taken by the Russians on March 22 after a siege of six months.

The siege of the famous Austrian stronghold began early in September. It was well vied about October 10, but the Russians came back a few days later and resumed the investment.

The ring of forts surrounding the city has a circumference of 75 miles and a force of 120,000 Russian troops, with a large complement of cavalry and heavy artillery, was constantly employed during the attack.

During the last week of the Russian siege a 24-hour cannonade was conducted by the defenders. This was followed by a sortie in force, which resulted in sanguinary fighting. Both sides claimed the advantage in the battle.

The Russian artillery fire increased in volume during the last few days and immediately before the capitulation it was said that the czar's guns had dropped 10,000 shells into the circle of the forts in two hours.

According to figures furnished the Russians by Field Marshal Kusmanek, Austrian commander of the fort, 120,000 men surrendered to the besiegers. The garrison originally had consisted of 170,000 men, of whom 40,000 were killed and 10,000 escaped. Nine generals, 93 officers of the general staff and 2,500 officers and officials were among those captured.

The Russians were unable to follow up the advantage given them in the surrender of the fort. During the last week it became evident that a retreat to the Russian frontier was in progress.

The arrival of German 42-centimeter Krupps of the type which battered Liege and Namur hastened the evacuation.

Troop and supply trains which previously had been used to bring supplies to Przemysl were hurriedly dispatched to Lemberg. The construction of additional forts about Lemberg also was discontinued and supplies from the Lemberg magazine were carried eastward to places of safety.

Przemysl is 60 miles west of Lemberg and the key to the Austrian empire.

CLAIM VICTORIES OVER RUSS.

Three Przemysl Forts Stormed, Says
Berlin Report.

Berlin, June 3.—Tremendous gains against the Russians are announced in reports available here on Tuesday. These include: Storming of three forts before Przemysl, Russian evacuation of Radom in Poland. Capture of Stryl, south of Lemberg. Capture of 24,700 prisoners north of the Niemen in May. Total prisoners taken on eastern front, 10,582.

An official German statement issued here tells of the successful storming of forts 10-A, 11-A and 12, west of Dulkowicz, which constitute part of the outer defense of Przemysl, and of the capture of 1,400 men, together with eighteen heavy and five light cannon.

Indianapolis, June 2.—Ralph DePalma, driving one of the most spectacular races ever seen on any American automobile track, won the fifth annual revival of the International Sweepstakes 500-mile race at Indianapolis on Monday when he drove his Mercedes to victory over the classiest field which ever has been seen in the race.

In winning the race, DePalma clipped more than half an hour off the old record, going the route in 5:23:55.5, an average of 89.84 miles an hour. The old record was 6:03:55.50, an average of 82.47 miles an hour, made a year ago by Rene Thomas in a Delage.

Close behind DePalma came Dario Resta, winner of the Vanderbilt and Grand Prix races this year. Less than three laps separated these two Italian rivals and the duel between them had been in progress all day. It was DePalma's greater experience and better racing brain that told the story.

DePalma virtually ran Resta to death on two occasions, once when he was striving to regain a lost lead and the other when Resta was trying to do the same thing. On both occasions DePalma jockeyed with his Anglicized compatriot and on both occasions he made Resta overstep the bounds of safety for himself.

America had to be content with third and fourth places, Gil Anderson taking third with a Stutz, while Earl Cooper took fourth with another Stutz.

ZEPPELINS REACH LONDON.

German Flyers Seen Over Suburbs and Nearby Towns.

London, June 2.—The official press bureau issued the following announcement on Monday night:

"Zeppelins are reported to have been seen near Ramsgate (on the Kentish coast, 67 miles east-southeast of London) and Brentwood (17 miles east-northeast of London), and in certain outlying districts of London. Many fires are reported, but these cannot be absolutely connected with the airship visits.

Prior to giving out the above communication the official press bureau issued a notice reminding the newspapers that, in the interest of public safety, no statement whatever should be published dealing with places in the neighborhood of London reached by air craft or the course supposed to be taken by them.

It was added that the admiralty communication would give all the information which might properly be published.

Earthquake in Bavaria.

Amsterdam, June 4.—An earthquake shock is reported from Munich, Bavaria. The earth tremors began at 3:35 o'clock and were very severe destroying instruments in the observatory and shaking buildings.

10 SHIPS TORPEDOED

BOTH BRITISH AND NEUTRAL
SHIPS ATTACKED BY GER-MAN SUBMARINE.

MOST OF CREWS RESCUED

Several Men on Board Steamer Victoria Killed by Shells Fired by German Subsea Craft—Four Boats Owned by Neutrals.

London, June 7.—Four more ships were sent to the bottom by German submarines during the day, bringing the number of vessels torpedoed in English waters in forty-eight hours to the alarming number of ten.

The vessels that fell victims were: Steamship Iona of the Thompson line, from Middleborough for Montreal, built in Dundee in 1892 and of 2,085 tons register. Sunk 25 miles south of Fair Isle. Fifty-three survivors, including four seriously wounded by shell fire while taking to the boats after the Iona had been torpedoed.

Steamship Inkum of the Gull Transport company, built in Glasgow in 1901 and of 4,747 tons register. Torpedoed without warning and subjected to a second attack when members of her crew returned to her in an effort to save the ship's papers. Forty-one members of the crew rescued by the Norwegian steamer Wendla; landed at Falmouth.

Trawler Chrysopraps of Aberdeen, sunk by torpedo 25 miles off the Orkney islands. Nine members of the crew who were picked up and landed at Kirkwall report that they were shelled while taking to their boats.

Unnamed Lowestoft trawler, sunk in North sea off Lowestoft after crew had safely taken to their boats.

Steamer Lapland, Swedish ownership, 1,471 tons register, from Narvik to Middleborough, ore-laden, torpedoed off Peterhead, Scotland. Crew of 22 men and four women landed at Peterhead.

Three-masted schooner Salvador, Steamer Cubana of Norwegian ownership, torpedoed off Flannan islands. Trawler Hlorid, Welsh ownership, sunk off Scilly islands by the submarine U-34; crew landed at Milford.

Trawler Victoria, Welsh ownership, sunk 135 miles off St. Ann's Head after a submarine had raked her with shells that killed the captain, four men and a boy.

Steamship Cyrus, Danish ownership, 1,669 tons register, coal-laden,

REGRETS ATTACK ON U. S. SHIP

Germany Admits Sinking the Gulfight,
But Says It Was a Mistake—
Wilson Note Ready.

Washington, June 7.—Germany has apologized to the United States for the sinking of the Gulfight and promises full monetary reparation. In a second note dealing with the torpedoing of the American ship, Berlin admits that the Gulfight was attacked by mistake and that the commander of the submarine realized that he had fired on an American ship after the torpedo was on its way.

Inquiry into the attack by a German aeroplane upon the American steamer Cushing still is in progress. The Imperial government asks the United States to submit all data on the subject, to bring about a complete understanding.

President Wilson's second note to Germany was approved by the cabinet and will be on its way to Berlin in a few days.

From what may be regarded as a well informed source the following is learned as to the points in the new note to be sent to Berlin:

"First—That the president has restated the positions he took in his first note to Germany in which he appeals to international law and to the humanities to induce Germany to safeguard the lives of Americans and other noncombatants on neutral vessels.

"Second—That the United States regards it still practically impossible that a submarine can visit and search any merchantmen as required by international law and that Germany is still held strictly accountable to the United States for the loss of American lives through violation of that law.

"That—That the Lusitania was not an armed vessel either in fact or that she could be construed to be under the rules of international law, written or unwritten.

"Fourth—It is intimated to Germany that this country would consider any suggestions she may have tending to show or prove that Germany's present submarine operations can be carried out with due regard for international law.

"Fifth—The United States views with satisfaction the amends offered in the cases of the Gulfight and the Cushing."

MEXICO IS WARNED

PRESIDENT WILSON SENDS NOTE
TO LEADERS WHICH DEMANDS PEACE.

SAYS ANARCHY MUST END

Message Says Unless Government Powers Can Recognize Is Set Up Soon U. S. Will Use Means to Save Starving People.

Washington, June 4.—President Wilson on Wednesday served warning on the leaders of the various factions in Mexico "to act together and to act promptly for the relief and redemption of their prostrate country" or the United States "will be constrained to decide what means should be employed in order to help Mexico save herself and serve her people."

The president's statement is addressed to the American people.

"For more than two years revolutionary conditions have existed in Mexico. The purpose of the revolution was to rid Mexico of men who ignored the constitution of the republic and used their powers in contempt of the rights of its people; and with these purposes the president of the United States instinctively and generously sympathized. But the leaders of the revolution, in the very hour of their success, have disagreed and turned their arms against one another. All professing the same objects, they are nevertheless unable or unwilling to co-operate. A central authority at Mexico City is no sooner set up than it is undermined and its authority denied by those who were expected to support it.

"In these circumstances the president and government of the United States cannot stand indifferently by and do nothing to serve their neighbor. They want nothing for themselves in Mexico. Least of all do they desire to settle her affairs for her or claim any right to do so. But neither do they wish to see utter ruin come upon her and they deem it their duty as friends and neighbors to lend any aid they properly can to any instrumentality which promises to be effective in bringing about a settlement which will embody the real objects of the revolution—constitutional government and the rights of the people.

"It is time therefore that the government of the United States should frankly state the policy which in these extraordinary circumstances it becomes its duty to adopt. It must presently do what it has not hitherto done, or felt at liberty to do, lend its active moral support to some man or group of men, if such may be found, who can rally the suffering people of Mexico to their support in an effort to ignore, if they cannot unite, the warring factions of the country, return to the constitution of the republic so long in abeyance and set up a government at Mexico City which the great powers of the world can recognize and deal with, a government with whom the program of the revolution will be a business and not merely a platform. I therefore, publicly and very solemnly call upon the leaders of factions in Mexico to act together and to act promptly for the relief and redemption of their prostrate country. I feel it to be my duty to tell them that, if they cannot accommodate their differences and unite with this great purpose within a very short time this government will be constrained to decide what means should be employed by the United States in order to help Mexico save herself and serve her people."

SPEYER LANDS IN NEW YORK

Baronet, Who Resigned After Charges of Disloyalty, Comes to America for Vacation.

New York, June 4.—Sir Edgar Speyer, the English baronet who recently resigned his privy councillorship of Great Britain, divested himself of other offices and honors and sought the prime minister to revoke his baronetcy because of growing suggestions and charges of disloyalty to the British crown, arrived in New York aboard the American liner Philadelphia.

With Sir Edgar came his wife and family. Before sailing from Liverpool, May 26, Sir Edgar said he expected to take the trip as a part of a short holiday.

The steamer had aboard 715 passengers and the bodies of eight victims of the Lusitania tragedy.

Philip Klein, son of Charles Klein, the playwright, who died when the Lusitania went down, was a passenger. Those aboard included also Louis G. Dreyfus, American vice-consul at Berlin, and Raymond T. Baker of the American embassy at Petrograd.

When the Philadelphia left Liverpool it avoided the usual sailing lanes,
